Press Release: September 11, 2011 – Silent Memorial at Chapin Park, New Hartford.

The following text consists of First Selectman Dan Jerram’s address to New Hartford Emergency Service Providers and gathered residents on the 10 year anniversary of September 11, 2001.

“Thank you all for coming today and thanks to those who took the time to organize (Gordon Brookes and Glen Strycharz) and participate in this tribute. September 11 is a day that evokes many emotions in me and I’m sure that it does for all of you too. Today we’ve gathered to remember the nearly 3,000 Americans who lost their lives in the brutal attacks of 9-11. Men, women and children taken from us, including one from New Hartford: Cheryl Ann Monyak.

We remember the heroes, the brave Emergency Service Personnel, the “First Responders” who worked tirelessly to help others, so many of whom lost their lives. We also remember our New Hartford volunteers today who work so tirelessly to help others. I’ve had the honor, as First Selectman to observe your dedication to this town over the past two years. On behalf of the people of the Town of New Hartford, we thank you. Now, 10 years later, we live in a changed world, without those family members and friends lost. We’ve honored them here today with this silent vigil and renew our promise never to forget. Thank you.”
